FUND COMMENTARY

Fuelled by a heady mixture of improving economic data, albeit from a much lower base and central bank and government liquidity, financial assets extended their snapback from the March lows throughout June.

The direction from here looks less clear cut as after the euphoric rebound from the March lows various clouds are building on the horizon. The potency of the virus hasn't faded and we are seeing very worrying spikes in the sun belt US States that exited lockdown prematurely and in Brazil and India where social distancing measures are tough to implement. Various benefit packages for furloughed workers are also due to expire at the end of the month and economic growth whilst recovering is far from back to normal. Countering these concerns is the abundant liquidity provided by central banks and governments which on balance should underpin both bond and equity markets at these levels.

Within the portfolio we have continued to diversify across different equity and bond markets with an exposure split between active and passive funds to ensure the best possible trade-off between risk and return. Our asset allocation is now broadly in line with the stochastic strategies suggested by the market leader in risk profiling Dynamic Planner. Fund selection has been powered by Clever Technology who have a tremendous record of picking managers with the ability to outperform.
